It was one Monday morning when our teacher of English, Mr. Gabayo Tom, invited Mr. Katemba, a journalist of Real TV, to our school. He was invited to teach our class about print media.

Immediately Mr. Katemba arrived at our school, he was welcomed by the two gatemen at the school gate. They directed him to our classroom where he found Mr. Gabayo teaching English. He was teaching about print media. Our teacher introduced him to us. We all felt pleased when we were told that he was a journalist. Our teacher then allowed him to explain to us more about print media.

First, Mr. Katemba opened his bag and picked a camera. He explained to us that journalists use cameras to take photos and record videos for televisions. He told us that some events have to be recorded for people to see on televisions. The journalists asked Joram, our class monitor, to get the camera and record him as he conducted the lesson. Joram recorded for twenty minutes and then the lesson ended. He packed his camera in his bag and left us. It was a very nice lesson.
