Dear Sister,

I am so happy to write this letter to you. How is Paara?

I'd like to thank you for paying my school fees in time. When daddy passed on. I was so worried that I would not go to school any longer
I feel so happy because of your support

Sister, life at school was very good. Our school has a very good environment for learning. At the beginning of the term, I was unhappy because I was sick and I could dodge teachers' activities. I am very happy because I have been promoted to primary six.

I therefore, promise to work harder in primary six.

Send my greetings to all your friends in Paara. We meet when you come back to the village. In page 18

Your beloved brother,

Muhojo Sam.

I hate this old trench.

Always full of stagnant water,

A breeding place for mosquitoes,

That inject malaria germs into our bodies.

I hate this old trench, Uncle broke his leg in it, While chasing a big fat cock, To donate to his brother-in-law.

I hate this old trench,
So I must cover it up with sand soil,
To destroy all these flying monsters,
That carry death in their bodies.

By Beeta Mereki (P.6)
